Findings of Fact & Conclusions of Law

Dantney Parks appeared for the Petitioner. Alexander Stratis appeared for the Respondent charged with a 3rd offense violation of NYC Adm code §24-112 for placing an unauthorized placard on the back of the cited vehicle in order to avoid idling violations.

Petitioner submitted a 16 second video, and two photographs of the truck (Pet. exh. 1-2). Petitioner stated that the Respondent had a variance but it was limited to certain times, places and conduct. She stated that the placard was intended to imply that the Respondent was exempt from all idling violations regardless of the circumstance, and was therefore unauthorized and a violation of the statute.

Respondent submitted a letter from DEP detailing the terms of the variance and a letter from the company indicating that the engine must remain on based on the equipment on the vehicle (Resp. exhs. A-B). He moved for dismissal arguing that the details of violation in the summons was overbroad.

Respondent did not challenge the repeat status.

I credit the Petitioner and find that the placade is not authorized and serves no purpose other than to evade idling violations.

The summons is sustained and the third offense penalty is imposed.
