Findings of Fact & Conclusions of Law

Petitioner chose not to appear because they were short-staffed. Ilma Babu, authorized representative, appeared for Respondent and said that the video showed that the vehicle was backed into a dock. She said that it was on private property and the idling law did not apply. I found no support for this. She had nothing else to submit.

I find that Respondent had a vehicle idling for longer than allowed. Whether it is on public or private property is not material. There was no evidence to rebut the idling charge.

Accordingly, the summons is sustained.
